I am an experienced Sound Mixer and Licensed UAV pilot with twenty five plus years in the broadcast television and film industry. I am based in London U.K. as a freelance sound mixer, and Toronto Canada as IATSE 873 Union sound mixer.

I have pursued all disciplines of the Sound Department ranging from the days of tape and film through to today's file based workflow. I have mixed sound on dramas, films, commercials, branded content, documentaries, current affairs, extreme sports, music, live outside broadcast, studio, corporate and reality formats. My regular clients include BBC, ITV, CH4, CH5, Sky, Discovery, Nat Geo, MTV, CBS, Great Pacific TV, and Entertainment Partners Canada plus a host of independent film makers and production companies. At least two projects I have mixed on have won BAFTA's, one for best factual sound in 2010.

Much of my work has taken me around the world and I can count 79 countries listed in the course of filming so far. I have mixed sound in jungles, deserts, mountains, oceans and a host of extremely remote locations including the Amazon, Arctic and Antarctica. I have experience in hazardous locations including expeditions to Iraq in liaison with the US military, the Pakistan Northwest Frontier and Syria, for the BBC, Africa, and the lawless Svaneti region of the Georgian Caucasus to name a few. I am also a regular provider of services as a Sound Supervisor to a number of recurring large format entertainment series and as such have experience as head of department with the accompanying technical and logistical knowledge required to operate my department anywhere in the world.

I am as comfortable on large working sets with multiple crews as in a small fast moving documentary team and I can adjust my workflow accordingly. I utilise a considerable inventory of equipment and am happy to supervise my department or work alongside others.

I believe the breadth of my experience and my understanding of the variations in different working set environments makes me a valuable and knowledgeable member of my department. I am a team player and I like to operate with the best interests of the production at heart.
