I am an experienced sound mixer/recordist and licensed UAV Pilot with twenty plus years in the broadcast television and film industry. I am currently based in Toronto as a freelance sound mixer, IATSE member and as a licensed UAV pilot.

I have pursued all disciplines of the Sound Department ranging from the days of tape and film through to today's file based workflow. I have worked on Dramas, films, commercials, branded content, documentaries, current affairs, extreme sports, music, live outside broadcast, studio, corporate and reality formats. My regular clients include BBC, ITV, CH4, CH5, Sky, Discovery, Nat Geo, MTV, PBS, NBC, BBH, Pulse Films, Kream, Outlaw Films, Maverick Films, Remedy, Blink Films, Lime Pictures, Windfall Films, Flying Fern Films, Gobstopper TV, Whizzkid Entertainment, Great Pacific TV, and Entertainment Partners Canada. You can see my UAV work on Discovery's Heavy Rescue 401.

Most of my work takes me around the world and I can count 78 countries listed in the course of filming so far. I have operated in jungles, deserts, mountains, oceans and a host of extremely remote locations including the Amazon, Arctic and Antarctica. I also have experience in hazardous locations including expeditions to Iraq in liaison with the US/UK military, the Pakistan Northwest Frontier, Syria, Africa, and the lawless Svaneti region of Georgia to name a few. I am also a regular provider of services as a department supervisor to a number of recurring large format reality series with MTV.

I am as comfortable on large working sets with multiple crews as in a small fast moving documentary team and I can adjust my workflow accordingly. I carry all my own equipment and am happy to supervise my department or work alongside others.

I believe the breadth of my experience and my understanding of the variations in different working set environments makes me a valuable and knowledgeable member of my department. I am a team player and I like to operate with the best interests of the production at heart.
